Soft stars, candlelight, and roses accented this year's Junior Prom, held on May 12. The Junior class hosted the Senior class to an enjoyable dinner consisting of roast beef or turkey. Following the dinner, dance music was provided by "The Keymen."

Couples entered through a rose covered archway which led them into the world of "Moonlight and Roses." Each table glowed with two sparkling candles surrounded by red roses. Lining the dance floor were eight, two-layer topiary trees.

After midnight, all moods were changed by waiters and waitresses dressed in striped jackets and flapper dresses, serving "Sparklers," "Three Roses," and "Moonlight Cocktails" to the attendants of the post prom. Sponsored again by the Alumni Association, the post prom was also held at the American Legion. This gala evening also featured the rock and roll band, "The Manchesters," who kept the students and faculty dancing to all hours of the morning. Also on hand was a New York "go-go" dancer, who gave a performance to "Shake a Tail Feather."

Fifteen savings bonds were among the prizes given. Various Ephrata merchants contributed small items for prizes which were won through a spot dance or a "lucky birthday."

TRACK

The Ephrata High School thinclads ran, jumped, and threw their way to a 10–3 overall record this year, and a 9–3 league record. The non-league meet was held April 1 at Schuylkill Haven. The league record put Ephrata into 3rd place behind Manheim Township and Columbia. This year's record ties that of last year's which, until then, had been the Mounts most successful season ever.

This year four school records were broken. Tom Stradling, a senior, broke the previous record of 169′ 10″ set by T. Kilkuskie when he heaved the javelin 170′ 1¾″. Brian Yorgey, a junior, broke B. Gosling's record of 22.0 in the low hurdles when he ran a 21.8. Doug Hackman, another junior, holds the school record in the triple jump of 41′ 11¾″ (this event was just added this year). Jeff Shrom, a sophomore, hurled the discus 142′ 8″ to break the old record of 138′ 8¾″ set by Q. Furlow. Shrom's throw was also the best in the county this year.

The fifteen members of the rifle team are chosen from the best marksmen in the rifle club. By practicing after school, the rifle team learns not only the proper care and use of a .22 caliber but also improves its shooting eye. Safety is also emphasized during practice. This year's team compiled the highest team average in all their matches.

BAND

Colonel George S. Howard directed the concert band, Saturday, March 18, 1967, during the second half of the John Philip Sousa Memorial Concert in two selections which he composed. Formerly of Reamstown, Colonel Howard was at one time conductor of the Air Force Band and Symphony Orchestra.

In keeping with the spirit of the concert, the band presented "The Liberty Bell March" and "Semper Fidelis," both composed by John Philip Sousa.

Cindy Garber was presented the second annual John Philip Sousa Award by Colonel Howard. The award is given annually to the outstanding senior band student, who is selected by a vote of all the band members. Given for outstanding contributions to the band throughout the student's high school career, the award consists of a certificate, pin, desk piece, and a plaque, which remains in the school showcase.

One hundred dollars was donated to the John Philip Sousa Memorial, a section of the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts. The words "Ephrata High School" are to be inscribed on a plaque inside the memorial.

After dinner, prizes were awarded in the high school auditorium. Three regional titles were won by Ephrata High School students. Teresa Weidman placed first in advanced typewriting and was chosen Miss FBLA. Placing second in advanced shorthand was Donna Hontz.

The regional winners went on to compete, May 1, in the state competition where Teresa Weidman again placed first in advanced typewriting.

JUNIOR CLASS PLAY

Anyone who witnessed a presentation of the junior class play March 24 or 25, knows that telling "The Whole Truth" can lead to some humorous and confusing situations. Under the direction of Mrs. Carol Heidlauf and Wendi Lutz, student director, the three-act comedy proved a great success.

The setting for the story was the Martin family's summer home, located on a large estate in a suburb of a metropolitan city. Mrs. Martin had persuaded the family to be entirely truthful under all circumstances.

When the Martin business was in need of immediate financial help the family was forced to stretch the truth, thereby confusing their friends, relatives, and associates. When, at last, explanations were given and "The Whole Truth" was revealed, the business received the financial aid it needed and the Martins returned to normal living.

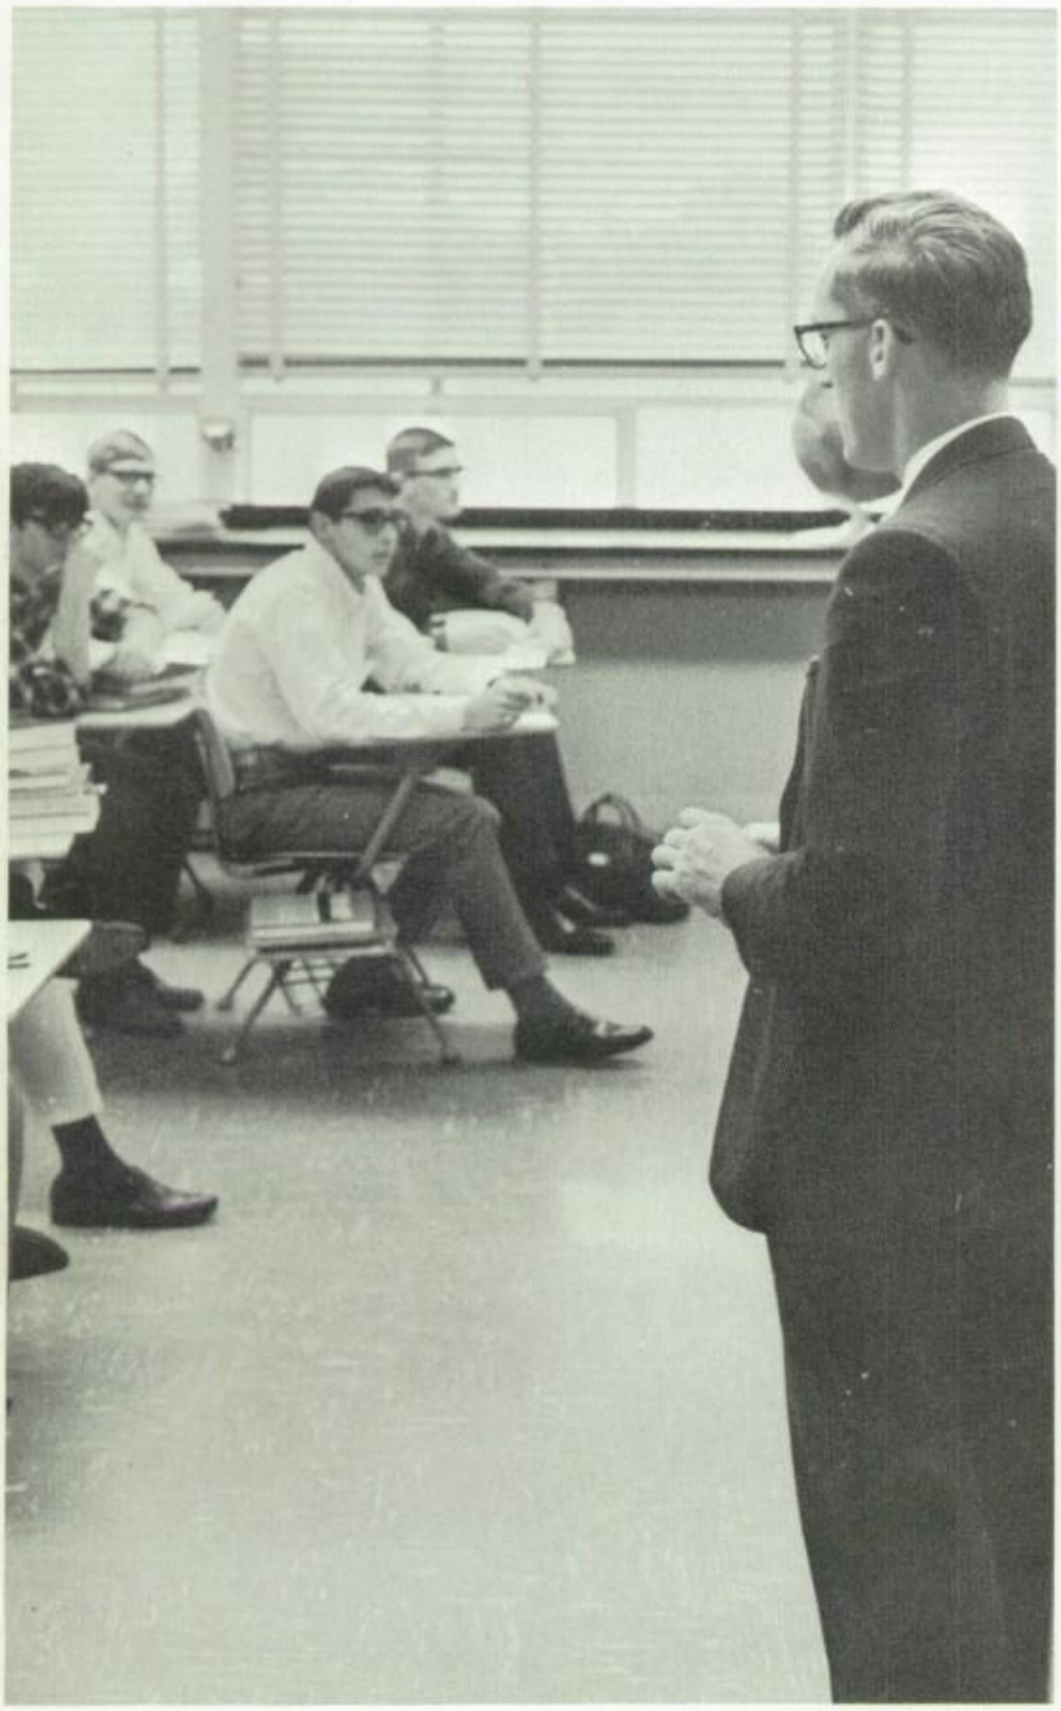
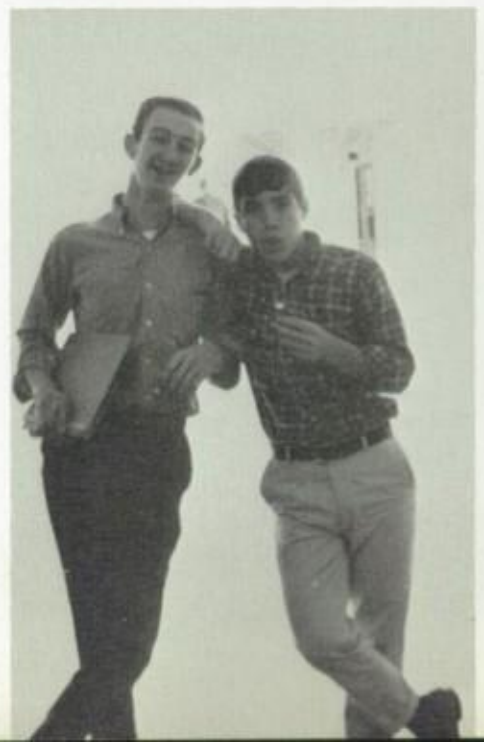
The Many Faces of Ephrata

People, through their varied facial expressions, describe the world in which they live. Unlike animals, man has been endowed with the ability to reflect with his face his inner thoughts and ideas.

The 1967 Cloisterette presents a simple, descriptive picture text in the study of people. Joy in a win at football shows just as plainly as a moment of contemplation. Through the eyes of people come the everyday joys of being alive and free.





THE FACE IS A MIRROR,

REFLECTING THE THOUGHTS OF THE SOUL.

Administrators Perform School Board

The major problem facing this year's school board is concerned with the new school to be built near the present high school on land purchased several years ago.

The board is faced with two alternatives—a school for sixth, seventh, and eighth grade students, commonly known as an intermediate school, or a junior high consisting of seventh and eighth grade students only.

Months have been devoted to the task of deciding what is best for the students of the Ephrata area. Other schools have been visited, correspondence has been carried on with many schools, and many hours have been spent debating the issue.

The board has finally decided upon a junior high for seventh and eighth grade students.

Once a month the members of the board have visited various areas of the school to increase their knowledge of each particular segment of the school curriculum. This further has molded the close relationship between the school board and the school personnel.

KENNETH W. HOOVER
High School Principal

High School Principals

The administration of Ephrata High School falls mainly on the shoulders of two willing and able men, Mr. Kenneth Hoover and Mr. Lou Snook. These men do everything in their power to make Ephrata High School a fine one and to give its students the best education scholastically and socially available.

During the summer months, these men schedule classes and set up the school calendar for the next year. As the year progresses. the principals also preside over assemblies, interview prospective teachers, attend school board meetings, and coordinate student, parent, faculty, and public relations.

They willingly lend a helping hand to any student activity when requested. Their opinion, however, is that students should be given any responsibilities which they are capable of handling. In this way students will be more sufficiently prepared for the future.

LOU SNOOK
Assistant Principal

SUPERVISING PRINCIPAL

A supervising principal must continually be doing research on effective methods of teaching. He must watch the census and pupil growth rates and foresee situations as much as twenty years in the future in order to decide where new facilities will be needed. Mr. Hammon reads at least twenty-five journals a month to keep pace with educational developments, and attends an average of over two meetings a week on subjects ranging from county to federal levels.

Our biggest relations man, Mr. Hammon must interpret the school system to the public, keep newsmen informed, and act as a liaison between the faculty and the school board. One of his biggest obligations is to draw up a budget for the school system and recommend a tax rate to the school board.

A superintendent of schools must be an alert, informed man, and one who can work well with other people. Our school is fortunate to have such a person in Mr. Allen H. Hammon.

ALLEN H. HAMMON
Supervising Principal

Leadership Tasks

GUIDANCE COUNSELORS

Guidance counselors are always available to students when scholastic problems arise. A variety of personality problems and academic problems are handled by these men. They help students prepare for the future by helping them to select appropriate and desirable careers. If a stuent would like to attend a college or a trade school, the counselor can be of great assistance in supplying information on various schools and their admission regulations.

In order that every student receives the benefit of the guidance counselor in selecting courses, individual interviews are scheduled throughout the year. Meetings are often set up to help parents give direction to their children.

Administering and interpreting tests is another one of the guidance counselor's responsibilities. Aptitudes, intelligence quotients, achievements, and college boards give students better understandings of their capabilities.

English

Because an adequate command of the English language is the key to understanding in so many every-day situations, the requirement that every student study English is most reasonable. Correct usage of grammar, comprehensive reading, a distinct writing style, and clear speech habits are solid foundations for a well-rounded education.

English study includes instruction in basic spelling, reading and grammar techniques. Learning the parts of speech aids the student in developing correct constructions for himself. This year, several classes were also introduced to speech from a linguistic viewpoint.

Literature is an integral part of the English curriculum. Junior high teachers cultivate in their students the desire to read, helping them understand and appreciate the works of many authors. As juniors, the field is narrowed to a more intensive study of American literature. Seniors study English literature for a broader background of our heritage.

The English Department offers courses in reading, public speaking, and creative writing, which students may elect as they sense their need.

Social Studies

The social studies department has been working hard to establish a continuous program of studying in grades kindergarten through twelve. This would eliminate repetition in several courses and provide a balanced study course, covering all aspects of social studies.

Ninth grade students have adopted a complete year of civics, turning Pennsylvania history over to the American history classes in eighth and possibly eleventh grade.

Ninth grade pupils take an annual tour of the Ephrata Cloister to increase their understanding of the past culture of this area. The freshmen then write an essay concerning their trip and the information given to them by their teacher.

Two text books are being used in every grade, varying with the reading comprehension of the student. This plan enables each student to learn according to his individual capacity. Through this type of effective social studies course, students can increase their understanding of world situations.

SCIENCE

Ephrata High School's Science Department is much different now than it was five years ago. No longer do junior high students spend three years studying general science. Courses are now more comprehensive and specific.

Seventh graders gain a fundamental grasp of life science as the world of plants and animals is opened to them. Earth science is taught to eighth graders, who learn about land formations, mountains, faults, earthquakes, volcanoes, rivers and seas. Introductions to chemistry, physics, magnetism, electricity, and waves are presented to freshmen in general science classes. Biology, a required course for sophomores, teaches an appreciation of the phenomena of life.

Many juniors take chemistry and are filled with marvel at the complexities in even tiny molecules. They discover the composition of mixtures and compounds, valence of elements, make-up of atoms, and how and why various substances react under diverse conditions.

Physics is a challenge to many seniors who try to absorb principals of wave motions, theories and laws about reflection and refraction of light, and how to make accurate measurements and calculations.

Physical science is offered to students not in the college preparatory course who still want to further their knowledge of transportation, communication, weather, electricity, light and sound.

An additional course given this year is a physiology course which is of special interest to students considering a career in medicine or life science.

MATHEMATICS

Because modern mathematics has been successfully taught at the junior high level at Ephrata High School for several years now, changes were made in the senior high curriculum this year. Eight math courses are now available to senior high students.

Business mathematics, required for the business education course, develops speed and accuracy in basic arithmetic as applied to problems in business finance, insurance, accounting, retailing, and related business fields.

Two courses are given in general mathematics which include studies in the real number system, probability, and some geometry.

The geometry course is the study of points, lines, planes and three-dimensional figures, with ideas of congruence, similarity, and proof emphasized.

Algebra is another course offered on two levels. These courses aim to develop understanding of factoring, radicals, equations, inequalities, absolute value, relations and functions, Cartesian Co-ordinate System, logarithims, complex numbers matrices, combinations and probility.

Liberal arts senior math, new this year, provides a review of algebra and geometry before delving into a study of trigonometry. The other senior math course begins with trigonometry and finally concludes with an introduction to calculus.

BUSINESS EDUCATION

The student choosing a business career can be assured of an adequate education, with not only the skills, but also the qualities needed to succeed. One aim of the business department is to graduate a worker who has mastered all the aspects of a business career.

Business math includes the study of bank, payroll, and income procedures. A change this year has brought Typing I to the sophomore level. Potential accountants, as juniors, are instructed in bookkeeping. Senior business students are instructed in the operation of office machines under office conditions and gain valuable office experience in the high school office. Seniors also have the opportunity to take additional courses in shorthand or bookkeeping.

Business students, however, are not the only ones to use the Business Department. Many other students find typing courses to their advantage. Business law and economics courses also have merit for students considering non-commercial vocations.

While many good business students go on to further education, the skills learned in Ephrata High School give adequate preparation for many jobs immediately available in the community.

FOREIGN LANGUAGES

The Language Department, by introducing students to the life and customs of foreign peoples, creates understanding between nations of the world. The Language Department of EHS currently offers three areas of study: German and Spanish in four year programs and Latin in a two year program.

Latin students can not help but assimilate some Roman culture and language when attending classes in a room boasting many colorful and significant Latin mottos and phrases.

German classes initially stress sentence patterns and pronunciation habits before grammar itself is taught. Culture of German speaking peoples is absorbed through classroom discussions and occasional films. Frequent use of the modern language laboratory eases the reception of speech structure and vocabulary.

Spanish students find that learning to think in Spanish is the key to good speech. The limited amount of English spoken in the classroom stretches their Spanish speaking, reading, and writing vocabularies.

A motto hanging in the language laboratory says (in German) that to learn his own language well, a person should also know another. Ephrata's linguists do find that their own tongue becomes more clear to them after having studied a foreign language.

Minds Broadened;

MUSIC

Music plays an important role in everyone's daily life, whether in the form of radio, the beat of a typewriter, the patter of rain on the roof, or the voice of a friend.

The music department of Ephrata High School offers several courses to students for their enjoyment and benefit. Seventh and eighth graders take a required general music course in which they sing, listen to the works of various composers, and study music styles. Freshmen may include music in their schedules and senior high students are offered two electives, music appreciation and music theory.

HEALTH, PHYSICAL EDUCATION

The objective of Ephrata's Physical Education program is to give each student an opportunity to actively participate in a variety of activities, ranging from football, baseball, basketball, hockey and volleyball to tennis, track, archery, and square dancing. From participation, basic skill and understanding are developed which encourage students to participate further, either in intramural and interscholastic activities offered by the school or in activities offered from other recreational facilities. Participation also creates better informed spectators at athletic events.

In addition to active physical education, each eighth and tenth grade student also takes health three times a week so a student develops "a sound mind in a sound body."

ART

The aim of the art department is to instill in our students an appreciation of all forms of art and to develop the sensitivity of an artist in them. Students taking the art course enjoy a varied program. Included in the art curriculum are sketching, drawing to scale, abstract designing, constructing three-dimensional figures, and learning how to letter in Roman, Gothic, and eccentric styles.

The art course is mandatory for seventh and eighth grades. In ninth grade through twelfth grade the course becomes an elective for those students who enjoy expressing themselves in a free and creative manner.

Courses Aim

VOCATIONAL AGRICULTURE

The only program which is an elective as early as ninth grade is the Vocational Agriculture Course. The field is broad, encompassing not only students who plan to farm, but also prospective workers with such areas as landscaping, the feed business, or farm machinery. Because of the facilities our school offers in this curriculum, agriculture students from Cocalico High School join EHS pupils in this study.

Students who elect this program must have facilities on which they can develop an agricultural project. Raising calves, cultivating gardens, and growing crops are typical projects completed by boys. Under the supervision of their instructors, Mr. Ayers and Mr. Ackley, other students have secured placement with an agriculture business during the summer months to fulfill their project requirements.

HOME ECONOMICS

The homemaking instinct may be intuitive, but homemaking skills must be learned. Recognizing that, Mrs. Blough and Mrs. Lentz teach girls in their classes the fundamentals that will be so important to them as they assume their roles in society.

Cooking, sewing, safety, grooming, manners, and attitudes are stressed in junior high classes, where the course is required for girls. The progressiveness of the three year plan is illustrated in the culinary program: seventh graders learn to make breakfasts, eighth graders make lunches, and freshmen make dinners.

At the senior high level, home economics is an elective course. This study also includes both theory and laboratory experiences, but greater emphasis is placed on family raising and married life.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

An introduction to the various phases of industry first comes through the Industrial Arts program in the junior high. Students are given a background in the history of industrialization and become acquainted with the different tools in the shop area. Junior high boys spend one quarter of the year studying in each area of industry, including mechanical drawing, graphic arts, wood shop, and metal shop.

Pupils who continue their education in industrial arts attend eight classes of shop each week. The study of mass production is correlated with the principles previously presented. Throughout the year field trips to local industries supplement the program. On these trips, the students observe a diversity of approaches to the problems of industry and view new techniques.

Senior high students may also elect to study industrial arts or mechanical drawing. Also available to students are courses in plastics, leather, and ceramics.

SAFETY EDUCATION

The Safety Education and Driver Training program is designed to inform students about safe driving practices. The theory is presented in the classroom and the application of the theory is presented in the instruction in the car. Those students who successfully complete both phases of the program receive a certificate which results in lower insurance costs for them. It is hoped that through the training of young drivers we can bring about safer driving for everyone.

SCHOOL NURSE

The school nurse aids both students and faculty in a variety of ways. She checks eyes, ears, teeth, height, and weight for all pupils annually throughout their high school years. The nurse gives assistance in faculty chest X-rays every two years and this year helped administer the diabetes test.

LIBRARIANS

A librarian's work is often interesting: she can absorb a lot of information as she works among so many books. A librarian's work is often demanding: she must often produce information on the spur of a moment. A librarian's work is often difficult: she must often discipline students who forget to keep the library clean and quiet.

The number of qualifications for a librarian is as long as the list of her responsibilities. Students appreciate the many hours librarians spend helping with term papers, giving directions for finding materials, and locating dated magazines. Mrs. Taylor and Miss Hoover are assets to Ephrata's study program as they help to make reading a pleasure and learning a joy.

SECRETARIES

"May I have eighty copies of this by noon?"
"Would you please tell me what homeroom Johnny Smith—I think he's in seventh or eighth grade—is in?"
"Did anyone find a black coat?"
"May I have some scotch tape?"
"Has my mother brought my gym suit yet?"
"I need working papers!"
"May I use the phone please?"
In addition to answering these questions and other similar ones, the secretaries in the district office and the high school office handle all the business of the school.

CAFETERIA STAFF

Providing over fourteen hundred students with a hot lunch each day is a full time job for the women who work in Ephrata High School's Cafeteria. They do their job well, and efficiently prepare balanced meals for the students.

Meal planning is a major responsibility for Mrs. Shenk, the supervisor. She must try to coordinate student's desire with standards for balanced diets and the supplies she has to work with. This year for the first time, she worked with a student council committee in planning a week's menu.

CUSTODIANS

Visitors to Ephrata High School frequently remark about how beautiful the students have kept the school. The credit cannot, however, go to the students alone. The custodians deserve most of the thanks. Their tireless and continuous service keeps the halls and classrooms of our school clean and neat.

These men clean and wax floors, wash walls, and empty trash baskets. Their duties also include supplying tools to students who are decorating for dances or basketball games.

They perform outstanding and invaluable services at Ephrata High.

Students Promote Good Relations

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Junior High Student Council this year is under the direction of Mr. Elder and Mrs. Snook, with help from officers Ross Eichner, President; Bonnie Book, Vice-President; Bill Strohl, Treasurer; Cindy Nissley, Secretary.

This organization sponsors many activities for the benefit of the student body. Some of these include the annual Spring Dance, a roller skating party, a talent assembly and an exchange day. On this day students from our school spend a day at another school and students from that school spend a day at ours.

MOUNTAINEER

The Junior High Mountaineer, a sub-division of the senior high organization, works under the supervision of Mrs. Trefny to prepare weekly news coverage and relay it to students. The staff members gain valuable experience in a variety of situations, which will aid them when they assume more responsible positions in senior high journalism. Observing more experienced newspaper workers gives them opportunity to develop effective techniques as reporters, interviewers, columnists, and editors.

DRAMATICS

Meeting weekly in the auditorium, the Junior High Dramatics Club studies the different parts of the stage and rehearses the plays which they plan to perform either for the public or for the junior high assembly program. Under the direction of Mr. Fisher, the club is divided into major and minor groups. While the major club is presided over by Pat Andrusisian, the minor club is assisted by Kay Kleinfelter, the vice president of the club. Other officers are Kay Rauser, secretary and Kristin Kunkle, assistant secretary. The minor club's main task is to prepare costumes and sets and to arrange properties for the major club's performances. Thus the club offers experiences in the many different aspects of a theatrical production.

In addition to the regular activities, the club anticipates a trip to Philadelphia to see a play.

LIBRARY

The Junior High Library Club is organized to encourage good library citizenship and to promote good reading habits. Under the direction of Miss Hoover, and the officers, Patti Brossman, president; Jill Shober, vice-president; and Shirley Leisey, secretary-treasurer, the group plans and carries such activities as the writing and production on a skit for book week and the periodic decoration of a display board in the library. For their part in the health assembly they collected and processed material dealing with tuberculosis. As in past years, they co-sponsored a Christmas tea for the faculty with the junior high FHA.

ART CLUB

The members of the Art Club, under the guidance of Mrs. Palmgren, are working on interesting projects including tissue paper collage, continuous line abstract, paper mosaics, and prehistoric stone carvings. Guided tours of the Philadelphia Museum of Art and the Fairmont Park Houses gave students the opportunity to see such famous works of art as: "Soft Construction with Boiled Beans or Premonition of Civil War" by Salvadore Dali, "Fish Magic" by Paul Klee, "Self Portrait" by Pablo Picasso, and many others of great reknown.

Artists Create by Experimenting

ART CLUB

Painting with wax, experimenting with various textile printing techniques and dyeing yarn with juices extracted from berries, bark, and flowers are only a few of the many activities in which the Junior High Art Club is involved.

Under the guidance of Miss Spotts, the club attempts to develop potential talent in the student's own expression of creativity by placing at the disposal of the individual, media which can be used to one's highest capabilities. Because of its size, the club permits its members to investigate and experiment with materials otherwise limited to a large classroom situation.

CIVIL WAR CLUB

The years between 1861 and 1865 are of particular interest to the members of the Civil War Club. Under the leadership of Mr. Hash and officers Jeff Herr, president; John Doster, vice-president; Scott Shelly, treasurer; and Mike Weber, secretary, the members of the Civil War Club broaden their understanding and knowledge of the Civil War. The Club activities include debates, panel discussions, films, lectures, and field trips. This year, besides decorating a showcase, the club sponsored a contest open to students in the junior high. An entry blank was provided on which participating students identified leaders of the Civil War. Two winners were announced in a junior high assembly, first prize receiving cash plus books and second prize receiving a smaller cash prize and books.

Past, Future Form Basis for Clubs

FHA

Helping to reach an understanding of family living, the Junior High F.H.A. Club, under the direction of Mrs. Blough, pursue their interests in homemaking.

With Sharon Musser, President; Debbie Moyer, Vice-President; Joyce Deemer, Secretary; and Ellen Martin, Treasurer; the girls keep in mind that the home is the origin of love and understanding.

The activities of the club include the preparation of the food for the faculty Christmas tea, and their attendance at county Round-Ups, where students listen to speeches, and demonstrate processes of making items.

VOCATIONAL AGRICULTURE

Membership in the Junior Agriculture Club is open to any seventh or eighth grade boy who is interested in some phase of agricultural science.

Under the leadership of Mr. Ackley, the club members are introduced to hunting safety, correct use of fire extinguishers, parliamentary procedure, and germination of seeds.

The club's main purpose is to acquaint seventh and eighth grade students with the agricultural classroom and perhaps interest them in continuing their vocational agriculture program of study into ninth grade. Going on an all day field trip in June highlights the club's year of activities.

This year's officers include: Tom Bollinger, president; Dennis Wolfe, vice-president; Marlin Bollinger, secretary; and Richard Bingeman, treasurer.

Students Increase Vocal Skills

8th & 9th GRADE CHORUS

The Eighth and Ninth Grade Chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Kohl, meets twice a week to prepare music for performance in assemblies and programs for the public. This year their musical endeavors included songs of many types such as tunes from Broadway shows, religious selections, classical compositions and selections from the traditional and modern schools of choral music. In the annual Christmas concert this group featured the "Shepherds' Chorus" from "Amahl and the Night Visitors," which is a short opera written especially for television. Highlights of the year for these students are the public Christmas program and the spring concert. Their performances indicate potential assets to the future Senior High Choruses.

7th GRADE CHORUS

The Seventh Grade Chorus, under the direction of Mr. Whitley, meets twice a week to rehearse for its performances. In this their initial experience of working in the high school extracurricular music program, the students learn much about proper pronunciation, breath control, and choral conduct.

These eighty-five enthusiastic youthful voices blended with the other choruses in the public Christmas concert. Singing both sacred and secular music, appropriate to the seasons and holidays, the group worked diligently to perfect its repertoire for its other appearances in assembly programs and the annual concert held in the spring.

Science and Technology Excite Hobbyists

AMATEUR RADIO

Learning Morse Code and increasing their skill to five words per minute are the main objectives of the Amateur Radio Club. Under the supervision of Mr. Montgomery, the radio enthusiast practice Morse Code and eventually gain their novice or amateur license. With this license the members are able to operate the improved school station. After holding the novice license for one year, members are able to apply for their general or technician license.

Each Amateur Radio Club meets once a week and besides practicing Morse Code, members are taught the operational theory of radio and the mathematics needed in certain calculation.

A new antenna makes transmission to foreign countries possible for radio "hams".

SCIENCE

Under the guidance of Mr. Trefny and Mr. Worley, Junior High Science Club members gain new insight in the field of science. By grouping themselves into pairs of two or three, the club members work on projects. When their project is completed, they demonstrate it to the other club members during part of the meeting. Each Science Club member is also urged to enter the science fair. With the use of films, special speakers, and field trips, the club members also widen their science horizons.

Band Grows in Number

Twice every week, the Junior High Band, under the capable direction of Mr. James Althouse, meets to express their musical talents and abilities. The band, consisting of 98 people, is one of the largest that the Junior High has ever had. Associated with the Junior High Band are its special units, such as the baton and flag twirlers, who devote themselves to the learning of their routines. At Junior High School football home games the sounds of the band and its special units can distinctly be heard. This year, for the first time, the Junior High Band was permitted to play at an away game. Great enthusiasm ensued over this project. Public performances also include a concert and several assembly programs. Marches and Broadway hits were the main attractions of the night. A Christmas program of all-time favorites, including "Jingle Bells," "We Wish You a Merry Christmas," and "Joy to the World," was presented in assembly. A few songs in the band's repertoire this year have been "More," "Humoresque," "Fantasy for Flute," and such selections from South Pacific as: "Some Enchanted Evening," "Bloody Mary," "Happy Talk," and "Younger than Springtime."

The members of the band practice many hours to develop skill in their particular instrument. Mr. Althouse is also concerned with teaching them the various types of band music. He feels that this will help to prepare them for Senior High Band.

Club, Cheerleaders Perk Vitality

GIRL'S GYMNASTIC

Athletically inclined junior high girls are given the opportunity to practice gymnastic skills under the watchful eyes of Miss Zarfoss. In Girls Gymnastic Club, they learn advanced skills by practicing a continuous routine on a specific piece of apparatus, such as the trampoline, uneven parallel bars, balance beam, and the horse. This year their activities included participation in the assembly on respiratory diseases in which they performed a skit plus a rhythmetical exercise routine. They also plan to hold a gym exhibition, enter the County Gymnastic Meet, and the gym exhibition.

PEP CLUB

"Two bits, four bits, six bits, a dollar, all for Ephrata stand up and holler, YEAAA!!" can be heard coming from these lively looking students at all junior high games. The Pep Club, a new club for this year, was organized to help boost school spirit, especially in the junior high. Under the leadership of Mrs. Hershey and with the help of the cheerleaders, this club is in charge of pep assemblies and a card section at games. They also place signs around school concerning sports events.

CHEERLEADERS

A hardy cheer or a sudden yell at a sports event is usually prompted by these six energetic Junior High Cheerleaders. After many hours of exhaustive practice of cheers or routines, these girls display the result of their endurance by being present at every game and ready to lead the student body in cheering their team to victory.

Under the leadership of Mrs. Hershey and Bonnie Book, captain, these girls are found making eye catching signs, snappy sayings and witty announcements to encourage attendance at all sports events.

FOOTBALL

The Junior High Football Team completed the 1966 season with a perfect 5-0 league record. The loss of two exhibition games was the only opposition to the Junior High Mounts' record.

Mr. Quick and Mr. White, the Junior Mount coaches, attributed their successful record to the boys' keen desire to play football and to the support of the student body. Emphasis was placed on the fundamentals of the game which will provide the boys with valuable experience when they join the senior high squad. The Wing T and I formations were utilized to provide the Junior Mounts' scoring ability, and a 5-4 with stunting linebacks was used by the defense.

BASKETBALL

Working to produce championship teams, the Varsity and Junior Varsity basketball teams of the Junior High can be found vigorously practicing every night. To keep them in top physical shape, coaches Wood and Worley exercise the boys by plenty of calisthenics and laps around the gym. This year a good job of managing the teams has been done by Rodney Fenstermacher, Dave Petters, and John Stewart.

Beside learning how to play a good game of basketball, the boys practice good sportsmanship as they compete against local Junior High teams. Many cheering students come to the games to see their teams execute exciting maneuvers, long-shot baskets, intercepted throws, jumps for ties, and decisive foul shots. Each long and tiring game requires team work and much cooperation, but the overall result is one of rewarding satisfaction.

CLOISTERETTE

With Miss Gerhart and Mr. Nearhof as advisor, Wanda Gehret as editor and Cindy Royer as associate editor, the Cloisterette staff worked throughout the year preparing this book.

The staff, chosen early last spring, assumed its first responsibility in production of the summer supplement. Summer work involved the sale of advertisements while section editors began drawing layouts and ladder diagrams. The sales campaign resulted in an order for 1000 books. Student and professional photographers took posed and candid shots which required cropping and identification. Copy was assigned, written, rewritten and typed. Early deadlines, which facilitate free supplements, produced diligence until the last was met in January.

When one yearbook is finished, its supplement is started; when a supplement is finished, the next yearbook goes to the drawing boards. As Ecclesiastes said "of making many books there is no end."

MOUNTAINEER

This year's Mountaineer, under the co-editorship of Rossie Steffy and Susan Kreider, and a staff of 26 members, is featuring a new look.

In its first size change since 1945, the newspaper has increased from 8½ × 11 inches to 17 × 22 inches, enabling the staff to cover more items and include more pictures.

The goals of the Mountaineer are to keep the students of Ephrata well informed about school events and to achieve high literary standards.

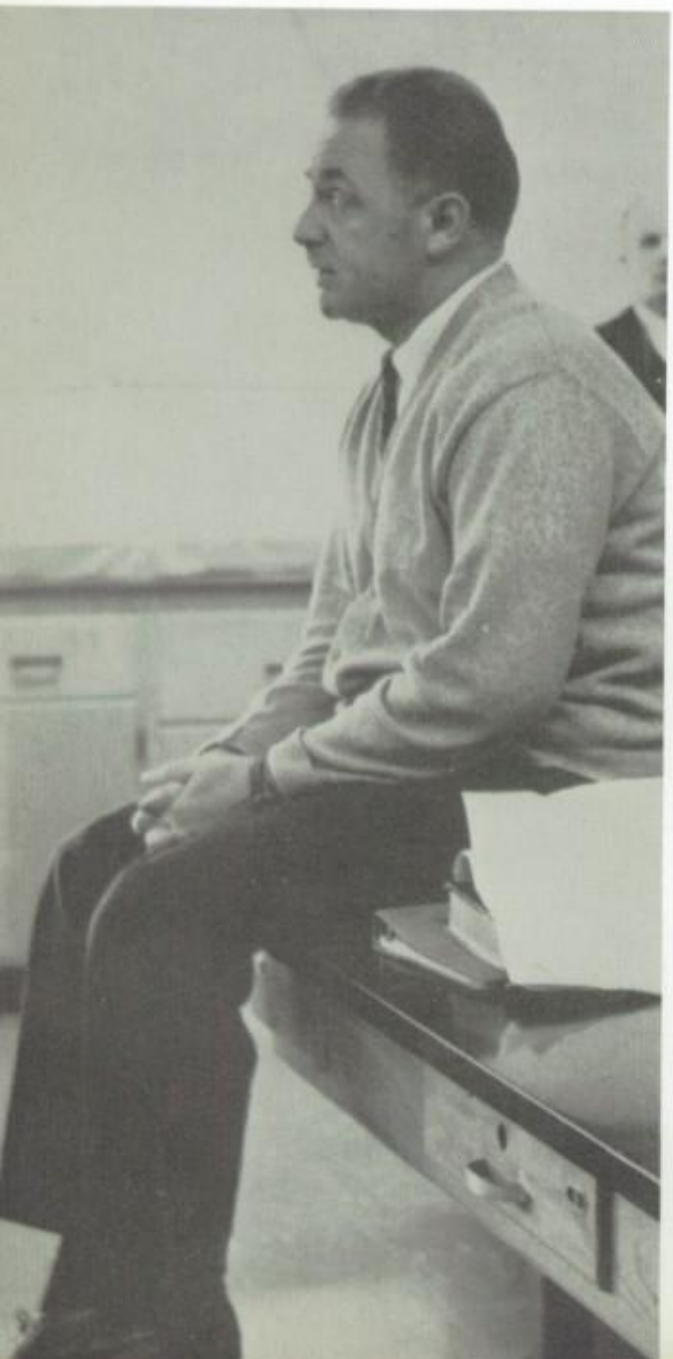
Science Clubs Stimulate Interest

Because of interest shown by the science clubs, Hans de Boer was invited back to speak to them.



SCIENCE CLUBS

Because of the increasing interest in science at EHS, our school is sporting two science clubs this year. Interested students have a choice between advancing their knowledge in the biological world, under Mr. Duddy's direction, or in the physical world, under Mr. Lester Heffner's direction.

Club members sacrifice much of their time working for the science fair. This project was the means for much of their interest in science, and now they use it to attract others to their area of interest. Field trips, such as the one to a cave at Leola, stimulate experiments. The combined club participated in the health assembly with a skit on air pollution.

Jim Gockley is president of the physical science club and Kent Weinhold presides over the biological department. Tom Sease, treasurer, and Bob Snader, secretary, are officers for the combined organization.

Hobbyists Develop Skills

CHESS CLUB

New at Ephrata this year, the chess club, under the direction of Mr. Bechtold, serves to increase the skill of chess players as well as provide relaxation and entertainment for its members. Techniques such as castling, rapid development of pieces and quick winning methods are studied and a tournament determines the club's chess champion.

PHOTOGRAPHY CLUB

The photography club, new to the senior high, is the continuation of an interest previously cultivated on the junior high level. Mr. Boggs shares with the group his knowledge of effective picture taking and processing of film. The boys learn how to capture interesting subjects, adjust light meters, use different millimeters of film, put the film through the waters of development, and finally print the shots. Their introduction to photography may someday lead them past the hobby stage into a profitable vocation.

In the fall a field trip is made to the Lampeter Fair for the Lancaster County FFA Livestock Judging Contest.

The club is under the guidance of Mr. Ackley and Mr. Ayers with Daryl Bollinger as president, William Buchter as vice-president, Randal Kline as secretary, Linford Weaver as treasurer, Terry Kaufmann as reporter, Ronald Mull as sentinel, Charles Harting as chaplain, and Ronald Meck as parliamentarian.

Girls Initiate Interest Clubs

GIRLS' GRAPHIC ARTS

The Girls' Graphic Arts Club, under the direction of Mr. Quick, enables the girls to learn skills which can be used in industry or simply provide an opportunity for fun and relaxation. Some of the processes learned are photography, film development, print making, calligraphy, offset, letterpress, and screen process printing. A sampling of projects would be: stationery, place mats, business cards, tickets, and posters. Ephrata High School is fortunate in that it has a well rounded graphic arts course and that it is open to the girls of the school.

GIRLS' GYM CLUB

Working toward good physical fitness, the Gym Club girls endeavor to perfect their skill on the apparatus. Flips, back walk-overs, and cartwheels are performed on the mats. The girls try to do front and back rolls on the balance beam. Handstands and a series of swings with releases and regrasps are executed on the uneven parallel bars, while double turns, flips, and pikes are included in the routines for the trampoline. The girls' big performance for the year is a public gym show, featuring the various gym clubs of the school.

RIFLE CLUB

Many hours after school are spent on the rifle range by members of the rifle club. Under the leadership of Mr. Weidman and Mr. Boggs, the rifle club endeavors to produce excellent marksmen. The club consists of boys and girls interested in the sport of .22 riflery. Safety, as well as marksmanship, is stressed during the club sessions.

The EHS Rifle Team is selected from members of the rifle club. These marksmen practice diligently in order to be eligible to shoot in the matches.

STAGE CREW

During plays, concerts, and assemblies, school organizations rely upon the stage crew to set up the necessary equipment needed on the stage. The members of the stage crew are hard at work behind the scenes. Their responsibilities include proper manipulation of the lights, operating the curtains, synchronizing the sound system, and arranging the scenery.

Under the direction of Mr. Bostic and assistance of the co-captains, George Cox and Glen Burkhart, the stage crew performs much of the work necessary to put on a good production.

SPANISH CLUB

This year's Spanish Club is the return of the organization after a lapse of a few years. Under the direction of Mr. Wee, the Spanish Club supplements classroom activity. It also serves to increase efficiency in normal conversation.

Some activities of the club include writing to Spanish pen pals in other countries, and playing Spanish games. The members sometimes play the popular game Password in Spanish to develop their vocabularies.

Sandra Carvell, president, and Sharon Wolf, secretary-treasurer, are officers of the club.

LIBRARY ASSISTANTS

Valuable aids to the school librarians, the assistant librarians are seen busily working in the library many hours each week. They sacrifice their study halls to ease the load of the school librarians. In addition to checking out books at the counter and shelving returned books, they also change the magazines on the rack and help students with research work. For instance, an assistant librarian may point out to an interested student the position of valuable research books and volumes.

Since many of the assistant librarians are considering library work as a career, the knowledge and insight gained from their experience in working with students, adult librarians, and an excellent library is indeed profitable.

SPECIAL UNITS

Growing competition for positions in the marching band caused tryouts to be held in order to get the best qualified paraders for special units. Girls in the groups, in addition to having ability to march spiritedly, have to have a good sense of rhythm and a certain skill to demonstrate in their various routines.

The majorette group is familiar to most people who attend parades because of the dexterity the girls display in manuvering their batons. The Swiss flags, purple with gold "E's" also require co-ordination for deft handling. A new group this year, the drill team, practiced diligently to add additional spice to the EHS parade line-up. Members of the color guard also hold key positions as they show the respect students hold for country, state, and school. The rifle squad, which picked up its complete routine from a book, was proud to guard the emblems of our heritage.

ORCHESTRA

The Ephrata High School Orchestra, directed by Mr. Leithmann, is made up of students from the 7th to 12th grade. The orchestra performs many times during the school year, including: assemblies, programs at the local elementary schools, and various public concerts.

The orchestra performs many types and styles of music, ranging from popular to the classical selections.

The orchestra is growing in numbers and importance, and is working hard to better the school and community through music.

MARCHING BAND

The increasing acclaim which has been given to the Ephrata High School Marching Band is not a coincidence. Tryouts for the band are now held earlier in August and rehearsals increased in number from two to three nights a week. A limited number of uniforms and an expanding number of junior high students competing for one of the 78 places in the organization drive members to extra exactitude and complete loyalty.

After school began, the band's parade agenda grew. The musicians and special units' personnel performed for crowds at farm show parades in Ephrata and New Holland, Halloween parades at Terre Hill and Ephrata, the Hamburg King Frost Parade, and the Ephrata Santa Claus Parade.

Football shows required precision exercises. Band members drilled for hours and memorized all their music before they were allowed to march before football crowds in their white bucks, plumed hats, purple trousers, and white and purple vested coats. Favorite numbers were the "Grand Entry Swing," "Spanish Flea," "On Wisconsin," and the theme from "Gypsy."

ENSEMBLE

Tuesday evening and Thursday after school finds members of the ensemble practicing for their next program. Seated informally around the piano they take part in one of their favorite pastimes, singing. Accompanists for the Ensemble are Tim Wissler and Charlene Shealer.

In the fall of this year, the Ensemble presented several programs in the Community. They performed for the VFW and the Lion's Club. Singing such songs as "Hello Dolly" and "Foggy Day" they brought great delight to the hearts of their listeners.

The Ensemble also sang at the Football Concert held at our school at the close of the football season. Directed by Mrs. Kohl this group is also heard during assembly programs throughout the year.

Musicians Exhibit Various Timbres

CONCERT BAND

With the March 18th concert always in view ahead of them, the concert band has been working again this year to produce a musical program that will be both of interest to the public and will also challenge the capacities of our school's instrumentalists.

Because Mr. Althouse feels that playing under a professional director is of great value to student musicians, he acquired Colonel George D. Howard to direct two numbers at the concert: "Alfalfa Club March" and "The Great Gate of Kiev." The band met twice before the concert in rehearsals with Colonel Howard.

Arrangements were made this year for students to have sectionals during a study hall rather than after school. This gave Mr. Althouse a chance to work with student musicians in smaller groups and on a more regular basis, as the groups got together to work on rough spots once every two weeks.

This year's band officers are: Cindy Garber, president; Henry Kromer, vice president; Fred Althouse Sharon Snyder, librarian; and Mary Schauffert, secretary-treasurer. Diane Boose, an oboist, went to district band.

CHORUS

This year the senior high chorus, meeting twice a week, has been under the direction of Mrs. Kohl. During the regular sessions, they practice the songs for their various performances, both for the public and in assemblies. In their first appearance of the year, they presented selections from "The Music Man" to the senior high student body. A main feature of the public Christmas concert was soloist Kathy Lausch, who sang "Lullaby on Christmas Eve."

Sharon Stoner, Sharon Snyder, Brian Yorgey, and Kathy Lausch, all members of the Chorus, represented EHS at County Chorus. Sharon Stoner, Sharon Snyder, and Brian Yorgey also lent their talents to District Chorus. Sharon Stoner advanced to State Chorus.

The Chorus also displayed its talents by singing at the Walter W. Moyer Company's Christmas Party. Several of the members were fortunate enough to attend a performance of Father Flanigan's Boystown Choir at Lancaster Catholic High School. Sharon Stoner and Tim Wissler were pianists for the group this year.

Drama Yields Profit

SENIOR CLASS PLAY

"Where I come from nobody knows; and where I'm going everything goes. The wind blows, the sea flows—and nobody knows."

Who is the strange person of the riddle? This is the puzzle entwined in Portrait of Jennie, a three-act drama which was presented on December 2 and 3 by the Senior Class.

During the depression, Eben Adams, an aspiring young artist, struggles to succeed by painting. He is on the verge of failure when he meets Jennie Appleton, a mysterious girl, and decides to sketch her picture. The portrait becomes a turning point in Eben's life. Not only does he experience financial gains, but he also finds a love, Jennie.

As the play ends, Jennie visits Eben for the last time. She exits the play as she lived—the girl that nobody knew.

SPECIAL EVENTS

In accordance with the adage, "variety is the spice of life," the student's school year is filled with special events, including varied assemblies, pep rallys, and dances.

The month of October inspired the theme, "The Pumpkin Patch," for the senior high dance. Amidst cornshocks and pumpkins, those attending the dance enjoyed doughnuts and music by The Sabres.

From Nigeria came Jonah Bubajoda who spoke to the student body about his country and its customs.

Hans de Boer, sponsored by the Mennonite Central Committee, stimulated the thinking of the students as he commented on everything from the Pepsi generation to religion in the United States and Russia. Following his speech was a lively question and answer period.

While the students relaxed during the Christmas holidays, the cheerleaders sponsored a dance with the theme "Winter Wonderland."

In order to give an insight into life in Denmark, an assembly was planned jointly by the student council and the music department. Slides were shown, poems read, and songs sung in the program, "A Day in the Life of Tove Jensen." Tove, the foreign exchange student, was featured in piano and vocal solos.

CHEERLEADERS

Leading cheers is only a small part of the responsibility accepted by our dexterous cheerleaders. The girls, under the direction of Mrs. Dean, held pep-assemblies for the fall and winter sports, marched with the band, constructed victory signs, decorated the goal posts, and sponsored a Christmas dance.

Varsity cheerleaders attended a clinic at Chambersburg opened to cheerleaders across the nation. Cheerleaders from each school prepared and performed two cheers, which were commented on by the other girls. In addition to improving old cheers, some new ones were learned.

The cheerleaders are chosen in the spring and pratices start in summer. Co-captains are Chris Smith and Ann Ruoss.

HOCKEY

Under the coaching direction of Miss Zarfoss, the girls' hockey team ended its fall season on October 27, after one exhibition and seven league games. As early as August 25, over 20 girls turned out to participate in the "day camp" program from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., when chalk talks and rigorous calisthenics, led by co-captains Tracy Ream and Darla Witmer, prepared the team for the trying season ahead, while a 10:30 p.m. curfew and a special diet tested the girls' fortitude and kept them in top shape. Miss Nolt coached the J.V.'s.

Twelve senior veterans added their ability to the team effort and succeeded in defeating the Cocalico Eagles and scoring several near wins against their opponents. This year, for the first time, freshmen were given the opportunity to participate on the interscholastic team.

FOOTBALL

Although plagued by a lack of experience, our football team, coached by Mr. Young, Mr. Lynch, and Mr. Fisher, struggled through a 3-6-1 "building season". Edging the Golden Mules of Solanco 12-7 and tying the Donegal Indians 12-12 started off the season in fine fashion. Injuries then began to cramp the Mount's style as they dropped the next two games, but their losing streak was interrupted when they defeated the Crimson Tide of Columbia 19-0. Despite being held winless again until the final day of the season, the team finished the year on a note of victory by beating the Cocalico Eagles 19-0 and thereby permanently winning the Ephrata Review traveling trophy.

Each year, awards are presented to outstanding players for their special contributions to the team. This year the "Mr. Mount" award went to Tom Stradling and the Elks trophies went to co-captains Barry Rupp and Tom Stradling. Tom also was the V.F.W.'s choice for outstanding lineman while Randy Zimmerman received the outstanding back award.

Mounts converge under basket to wait for rebound.

BASKETBALL

After five strenuous pre-season scrimmages, the Mounts began their 19 game schedule with two victories. Even after a string of defeats the team's spirit did not crumble.

At nightly practice sessions, Coaches Witmer and Smith run the boys through passing, shooting, and rebounding drills which improve their already well-developed skills. Newly purchased inner rebound rims give a boost to the players' shooting percentage in games, while a mechanised rebounder allows the "big men" to practice rebounding and tap-in shots.

This year a band plays at the home games for the warm-up and at half time. The Mounts return to the floor hearing the tune "When the Mounts Come Marching In."

Led by returning lettermen Randy Foltz, Tim Von-Neida, Randy Zimmerman and aided by seniors: Tom Stradling, Tom Roth and juniors: Jay Bucher, Jan Fassnacht, Jim Strohl, Doug Hackman, and 6'8" Mike Fry, our cagers played each game with an air of confidence and skill as they defeated their opponents. Throughout the season in practices and games, the players' sportsmanship showed through in their ability to accept official rulings gracefully.

Wrestling Keys Are

WRESTLING

Ephrata's varsity wrestling team, completing its fifth season in interscholastic competition, is coached by Mr. Dean and Mr. Ammon.

Nightly practices begin in October to develop fitness for the first matches in December. Plenty of running, and vigorous warm-up drills and exercises start practice sessions, followed by practice of take downs, escapes, and reverses.

Seniors Jerry Balmer, Gary Oberholtzer, Barry Rupp, Alan Van Zant, Mike Wolf, and Kermit Zimmerman alternated as captains each week. The team also included three freshmen, three sophomores, and thirteen juniors.

CROSS-COUNTRY

Coached by Mr. Engleman and led by junior Frank Stauffer our cross-country team completed another impressive season. Rolling up seven victories to only three defeats the Mounts finished in third place in a deadlock with Columbia.

Runs ranging from three to ten miles were practiced twice a day in August and daily after school opened in September.

Ephrata placed three runners in the top twenty in the second annual County Cross-Country Championships at Franklin and Marshall College with Mark Jobes finishing eighth and Tim Von Nieda and Jim Styer placing twelfth and thirteenth respectively. In District Three competition Mark finished twenty-third, while Jim placed forty-first and Tim forty-ninth.

Frank Stauffer, Jim Styer, Tim Von Nieda, Mark Jobes, Pete Klinefelter, Geoff Thompson, Rick Yorgey, Doug Hackman, and Scott Eberly each received a varsity letter for their efforts in cross-country this year.

Intramurals Supplement Sports Program

INTRAMURAL SPORTS

In addition to merely adding variety to Ephrata's existing athletic programs, the intramural program is valuable because it provides recreation for many additional students and often creates interests which result in stronger inter-scholastic teams. For senior high girls, basketball, tennis, and volleyball are offered, and junior high girls may also try field hockey. Boys have developed a soccer program that is so rapidly maturing that it might become a varsity sport.

SOPHOMORES

Accepting new responsibilities is an important factor in the transition from junior to senior high school. Members of the Class of '69 began to learn the importance of their new status when they elected their first set of class officers last spring.

Executives Roger Baker, president; Jeff Shrom, vice president; Betsy Hoffman, secretary; and Gary Hartman, treasurer, gain experience in organization and leadership as they coordinate activities for the 247 students. Major business items considered by the sophomore class are fund-raising projects, plans for a sophomore party, and the choices of class colors, flower, and motto.

To aid students in making their decisions, committees are chosen to research possibilities. Mike Cooper heads the colors committee, Wilma Gehret chairs the motto committee, Marcia Wenger leads the flower committee, and Becky Boyer organized the action committee. Mr. Wissler and Mrs. McCann guide the group as it faces new situations.

JUNIORS

With, "We Cast Our Nets Into the Sea of Knowledge and Gather the Pearls of Life," as their motto, the junior class, under the supervision of Mrs. Garrett, and Mr. Bechtold, has already begun to take on some of the responsibilities for their senior year.

After having selected camel and dark brown as their class colors, the juniors proudly wore their jackets to various sports events, in which many of them participated. They also chose their flower, the chrysanthemum.

This year for the first time a new class officer had to be elected in place of secretary, Fran Koehler, who moved to Pittsburg. Her successor is Pamela Buch.

As a highlight to this year, the junior class presented the three act comedy, "The Whole Truth," with lead roles taken by Judy Coulson, Brian Yorgey and Betsy Berkley. The performance was held on March 14 and 15.

On May 13, the juniors climaxed the year with a formal dinner to honor seniors.

TOVE JUEL JENSEN

Tove Jensen Visits from Denmark

FOREIGN EXCHANGE STUDENT

"The main purpose of spending a year abroad is to learn about another country and its people," says Tove Juel Jensen. Ephrata High School is privileged to have Tove here during the 1966-1967 school year.

Here in America, Tove is hosted by Doris Fry and her family. In Denmark, Tove lives on a farm of 80 acres with her parents and four brothers.

In the "gymnasium" in Denmark, Tove chose the course that has languages, social studies and literature as the major subjects. When she returns, she will still have two more years of schooling to complete.

Tove comments, "It has been of great value for me to know that I would be met with understanding when problems arise. I am glad that you all had enough patience until I found out that the only way of learning a language is to open one's mouth and try."

Tove meets many American friends in the cafeteria.

English class provokes a studious attitude.

If you are finished with the Books and want to start to earn, we'll teach you how to 'factory sew'—
And it is not hard to learn.
You'll learn a skill, of this we're sure
And you'll also earn good wages;
And even though you spend the 'dough'
The skill will last for ages.

Acknowledgements

Editors of the 1967 Cloisterette are deeply appreciative of the help given to us by our sponsors, the cooperation rendered by our principals, and the support offered by our advertisers and patrons. Without them, there would be, and could be, no 1967 Cloisterette. To us, these people are faces of guidance, prudence, and kindness.

Farewell

People and their ideas hold the key to the future. We have been shaped and molded by people's ideas and have been shown how to form our own opinions. The members of the class of 1967 have formed different opinions of the world in which they live. Their faces reflect the worry and tension as well as the happiness in our school life. Now, as we say farewell, we are ready to tell the world our ideas, hoping they will be accepted.

As we leave for college, marriage, work, or the armed forces, our petty prejudices, especially over religion, origin, and creed, must be replaced by a love for all people.

People pass through the open door, symbolizing not only freedom, but also new responsibilities to others. As more and higher achievements are accomplished, new responsibilities appear. With this highly mechanized world, we must find new trust and confidence in people who are willing to assume that trust and who are unlike the cold machine that cannot assume any trust. We are now the people who must lead the coming generation in the search for the truth.

The prophet from the Bible tells us, "To everything there is a season." Our season or time has come to leave the life of the school and enter a new world. Hopefully, we may follow our motto: "Today we follow; tomorrow we lead."

Donna,
To a nice girl I met several years ago
in the Arkansas
Course. Always remember the many hours of sleep we had and those delicious meals at our state Convention for FBLA. Best of luck in all you do.
